BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.

(Registro de Buenos Ayres, 1863.)

The statistical report recently published shews a great preponderance of foreigners in the city of Buenos Ayres, and furnishes many other interesting reflections.

The total number of births in 1863, within the city, was 5,092, viz:

Children of Argentines	2,093
Do of foreigners	2,017
Do of mixed parentage	982

Of the total, we find 706 were illegitimate, being as 18½ per cent of native, and only 4 per cent of foreign parentage. This speaks highly for the morality of the foreigners and shews some laxity on the part of natives. Only 73 baptisms are recorded as Protestant, or less than 1½ per cent of the whole number. The sexes are nearly even; males 2,609, females 2,482; but among illegitimates the excess is for females. The most populous parish is Concepcion. The returns for 1863 shew a falling-off of 263 from the previous year, and are also less than those of 1856 and 1857; this is owing to the rapid decrease of the native element, as the number of foreign births is much increased.

The total number of marriages was 1167, viz:

Between foreigners	687
„ Argentines	310
„ foreigners & natives	170

Among the mixed marriages the husband in only 20 cases was an Argentine. Among the foreigners married, nearly one-half were Italians; the French occupying the 2nd place. Of 61 English marriages, 14 were to native women. Colored people figure for 3½ per cent. of the whole number. The ratio of ages is thus: under 25, one half; from 25 to 35 one-third; over 35, one-sixth. Only 49 marriages were Protestant, and 9 mixed. Of the professions, only 4 lawyers appear against 226 merchants or shopkeepers. The total return is 20 more than last year, and 200 above the average of 8 previous years.

The total number of deaths was 4,539, viz:

Argentines	4,010
Foreigners	529

This is an astounding figure, as it would shew the deaths of natives to be double the births; while with foreign residents the births are six times as numerous as the deaths. But it must be borne in mind that the children of foreigners who die, appear as Argentines, and as 1681 infants died during the year we must deduct half this number from the first item and add it to the second, thus:

Argentines died	3,170
Foreigners do.	1,369

Comparing this result with the births we find the nett decrease of Argentines to be 1,077, and the nett increase of foreigners during the year, 1,630; giving a total increase of population of 553 souls, or a little over one-quarter per cent. of the population. The increase in 1856 was 2,117, and it has seldom fallen short of 1,000 per annum, so that the present return is highly discouraging. The deaths of Protestants in 1863 were, infants 47, adults 102: of these 67 were British. One quarter of the natives appear as colored people, and the deaths in hospital numbered 929. The mortality exceeded that of the previous year by 226, while the births, as we have stated, were 263 less than 1862, shewing a dead loss of 489 persons.

Among natives the great mortality is of males—thus: males 2,793, females 1,217; and of the former 1,680 appear as unmarried, while unmarried females number only 134. In the list of diseases the principal figures are—Mal de 7 dias (infants) 264, fever 300, consumption 245, chest disease 201, lock-jaw 86, heart-disease 53, apoplexy 51, sudden deaths 55, small-pox 49, old age 41. The average mortality of the city is under 13 daly: births nearly 15.

The above figures show a complete state of transition in our population, which lead us to conclude that within ten years the race of inhabitants will be completely changed. Intermarriages, we are glad to see, are more numerous than in most countries, and thus, even without taking account foreign immigration, the new generation will represent a people in every respect Argentine, as regards national sympathies, but drawing its direct origin from the most flourishing and progressive kingdoms of Europe.

IMPORTANT FROM MONTEVIDEO.

DOWN WITH THE MONTENEROS.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS.

THE COSTLY ALBUM.

August 17th, 1865.

The news from the departments is of a disquieting character. The existence of 'montoneros', or brigand parties, in the campaña, hitherto so sturdily ignored by the daily papers, and especially the Moderate section of the party in power, is now a fact beyond dispute. I told you of this some weeks since, and the official intelligence now received by the Government only confirms what ought to have been known some time back, and for the narration of which your correspondent incurred on more than one occasion the severe censure of parties who unwittingly would harm their cause and party by untimely reticence.

I am glad to say that the Government is taking active means to preserve tranquillity in the campaña, and orders have been just imparted, couched in the most stringent and explicit terms, and directed to the chiefs of the respective departments, that all those who are taken in arms against the Government shall be summarily and without distinction shot there and then. The phrase pasado por las armas, leaves margin of course for great abuses, but these in the present state of things are inevitable. We may hope, however, that the heads of departments, while complying strictly with their instructions, will act with discriminating caution so as to nip in the bud the commencement of a new reactionary movement at the same time as the lives of innocent parties are guaranteed against all violence.

Considering that the forces the insurgents possess cannot exceed 200 men, and these scattered throughout the departments, we have good grounds to trust that the energetic measures now ordered to be taken may be fully equal to the task of arresting this new element of anarchy in its outset.

The matter of the Jesuits is again on the tapis, and this time the anti-Jesuit-party has put itself in a still falser position than on the previous occasion. It appears that the Chief of Police ordered the interment of a Protestant in the the Roman Catholic Cemetery! Such a strange proceeding naturally created considerable excitement in Paysandú, and has of course found an echo amongst those agittators who are ready to increase their stock of political capital whenever the occasion presents itself of doing so.

The authoritative infringement of the rights of private individuals is applauded here with the most inconsistent enthusiasm, and it is not one of the least evils resulting from our constant political commotions that moral confusion in ideas follows so close on the heels of material change.

One cannot but mourn over the strange aberration of political principles which thus leads the so-called liberal party in the state to uphold these acts of arbitrary intolerance on the part of the Departmental authorities. This matter comes to embitter still further the question which is still agitated as to the closing of the houses of business and there ported commina tory note of Bishop Vera to the Government. These are questions which must assume a vast and unlooked for importance sooner or later, and will doubtless exercise a direct influence in the country for good or ill. Let us hope that it may be for the first.

I have had, yesterday, occasion to see the Album to be presented to Sor. Villalba. It is a fine work of art and cost rather more than six thousand dollars. Sor. Cataldi told me that the words "Los Residentes Estrangeros á Villalba" cost upwards of twelve hundred dollars. They are set in small rubies and the whole effect artistically speaking, does much credit to the workmen engaged.

Last night the 'funcion' of the English Amateur Dramatic Corps took place in Solis in presence of about six hundred spectators. The audience, however, was a select one, and all the boxes presented a fair show, filled as they were by the principal families of our society. With regard to amateur performances, the rule 'noblesse oblige' holds good, and the critic must resign his place with as good a grace as he can to the laudatory effusions of partial admirers. I may say, however, that 'Take that girl away,' however appreciated in England, seems to me very far from equalling, in point of excellence, many other pieces which adorn the repertory of English comedy. I should hardly venture an opinion on the subject, were it not that many of the audience seemed to think in the same way. The acting, I may say with truth, far exceeded our expectations.

Mr. R. Cross sung very well, and with much applause, 'The Village Blacksmith.'

Miss Casalla bore an honorable part in the entertainment, and was presented by the 'Comision de la Sociedad de Beneficencia' with a golden wreath as well as a handsomely worked silver garland, imitating flowers, presented in the name of the 'Foundlings.' The committee too, headed by Mr. McColl, presented her with a small case of jewellery, in the name of the Dramatic Amateur Corps.

Miss Casalla's singing as an amateur possesses much merit, but those who have heard the 'Bolero Sicilian Vespers,' sung by another of our fair amateurs on a former occasion in Solis, will hardly doubt that the piece was not well chosen. Indeed, we have heard Miss Casalla in the large Solis Theatre not very long ago appear to much greater advantage than last night, and obtain the well-merited applause of a crowded theatre.

The whole performance came off very well, and concluded towards the small hours of the morning. The Amateur Dramatic Company have merited the gratitude of the whole community for their laudable efforts in aid of one of our most useful and charitable institutions.

Nothing, absolutely nothing, in business. The stagnation continues with more or less uniformity in all branches of trade, though a slight demand is springing up now for the 'campaña.'

Some thousands of cattle and sheep have been offered on sale during the last few days without finding a purchaser. For the present no one likes to have much to do with camp property, as far as the making of purchases is concerned.

The price of cattle is on the decline, and sales have been made of fat cattle, cows, and 'novillos' of two and even three years old, at five national dollars each for the saladeros. Sales at this low price have however been very limited.

THE BRAZILIAN FLEET.

(An Englishman's Log.)

Imperial Brazilian Steam Corvette Belmonte, off the Riachuelo, in the Paraná, from May 25th to August 6th, 1865.

On the 23rd of May, in the year 1865, having embarked on board of the following ships of the Brazilian navy, viz.:—Jequitinhonha, Bebirebe, Belmonte, Ignateny, Araguary, Measion, Itagihy, Iperangi, and the Argentine steamers Pavon and Pampero, the Argentine troops, under the command of General Pannero, to the amount of 3,000 men, consisting of foreigners in their service, at a place called Rincon de Soto, we steamed away for Corrientes, and the same night anchored off Bella Vista. On the 24th, at 6.30 a.m., we got under weigh again, and the same day, at 2 o'clock p.m., we sighted a ship which we thought was aground, when all the ships put on full steam, in order to capture the first Paraguayan ship in the River Plate, but when our leading ship had got to within two or three miles of her she began to show life, and to move quietly a head, when all at once she ran up the Paraguayan flag, fired a couple of shots at random, put on a full pressure of steam, and very quickly ran out of sight, but not before we had recognised in her the light-heeled steamer, the little Ranger, or as they have re-christened her, the Pirabebe. At night we came to an anchor off the point of the Riachuelo, where we lay for the night, and the next morning we started again, and passing the point we saw the huts of an encampment recently deserted, for we had apparently come on them unawares. We anchored in front of Corrientes at 11 o'clock a.m., and the Mearim and Ipirangi going in shore, and taking up a good covering position, the troops from the Pavon and Pampero began to disembark in front of an orange garden. The men did not wait to form as they landed; some of them ran to pick the oranges, but they had not got more than half the way when a battalion of the enemy, who were hid under the trees, poured a sharp and heavy volley in amongst them, which however did not disconcert them in the least, for those who were not killed or badly wounded set up a shout and charged on the foe at double-quick pace, loading and firing as they went; in fact, acting the part of French 'tiraileurs' to perfection. The Brazilian squadron joined in the play, instantly opening on them from their heavy guns with shell to good account, as I can certify, being an eye-witness to the whole affair, so that what the enemy might have gained by the surprise was completely neutralised by the good service done by the ships, as whenever a body of troops became visible, then our shells made terrible havoc; but at three in the afternoon the Argentine troops and the enemy beginning to get intermixed, our gunners had to cease firing for fear of killing friends as well as foes, and then we beheld a most beautiful charge of the bayonet by the Argentines, which completely put the enemy to flight. Darkness coming on put an end to the fight, the two belligerent parties occupying opposite ends of the town: during the night the enemy received some reinforcements. The fight was not begun the next morning, both parties however being on their guard. General Paunero having got intelligence of a strong reinforcement of the enemy being within a very short distance of Corrientes, found his well-gained position to become untenable; he therefore embarked all his troops on the night of the 26th, and dropped down to Empedrado, leaving the Brazilian squadron to watch the movements of the enemy and enforce the blockade of the river, which they did by dropping down opposite to the point of the Riachuelo. During the time we lay there we were joined by the Amazonas, having on board Admiral Barroso, where we lay until the morning of the 11th of June, the time being diversified and the enemy kept aware of our vicinity by a nightly visit from or other of our gun boats, which managed to drop quietly inshore and sent them a present of a dozen or two of shells to disturb their slumbers.

On the morning of the 11th of June, at 8½ o'clock the Paraguayan squadron hove in sight, consisting of eight ships, each having a large 'chata' with a nine-inch gun on board and manned by twenty men, on their lee sides, so that, as they passed us, we did not see them, and they steamed past and dropped their 'chatas' under the point of Riachuelo, on which they hade erected a masked battery of some twenty or thirty guns, of different calibres, but principally of rifled 24-pounder Blakely guns. After they dropped the gunboats they divided themselves into two divisions of four ships each, and boldly waited for us to come on, as it afterwards turned out, to enter their artfully laid trap, as their ships were crowded with soldiers for boarding, as when the attack at last began they kept in the same position, and their battery and 'chatas' kept up a vigorous fire in reply to our guns. They tried to carry our ships, one after another, by boarding and carrying one at a time, as their object was plainly visible; in fact, at one time they had complete possession of the Parnahyba from her foremast to her mainmast, with an officer on the bridge and a man at the wheel, and no disgrace can be attached to her crew, for it is no joke for four ships to board one at the same time, and at four different places, and had it not been for the Amazonas and the Ipiranga gallantly coming to the rescue they would have taken her altogether. But the Amazonas, taking the new mode of naval warfare, fairly run down and pushed the Salto under water, whilst one of the others sent a 68 pound shot clean through the Paraguary, in at one side, through her boiler, and out at the other, which satisfied her and her crew at 1½ o'clock p.m. In the midst of the action the pilot of the Jequitinhonha was killed, and in five minutes more she stuck hard and fast on the bank under the enemy's battery, which, however she kept fully employed until dusk put a stop to her work. A shot from one of the 'chatas' having struck the Belmonte below water line, she had to run on shore to keep from sinking in deep water, so that, after sinking four of their ships, and all the 'chatas', and being obliged to look after their two disabled ships, I think we had quite enough to do for that night at least, without running into any more traps, to catch the fugitives, and I almost think to satisfy any reasonable person—it was as well to let well alone, as the old saying goes; therefore, I hope you will publish this in answer to 'Cardiff,' as I see he wishes to know the reason why they were not pursued after the battle, and addresses his query to the English engineers on board the Brazilian squadron, therefore you can publish this as a part of the reply of one of them, and the other part you shall have in a short time, and, believe me to be, Mr. Editor,

Yours to command,

FAIRPLAY.

NOTICE.

TO THE 'TRIBUNA' AND 'NACIONAL.'

We beg to remind our colleagues that Earl Russell's letter to the Paraguayan Minister is our property, not that of the 'Nacional,' as pretended.

The only Parliamentary Blue-book in Buenos Ayres is that in our possession.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Next week the time-table of the Southern Railway, will be altered. the first train from town will start we believe at 9 o'clock instead of eight, returning to town at 5 o'clock instead of 6 in the evening; yesterday morning the train left the Plaza full and we are happy to hear that the traffic is each day increasing: the terminus in the Plaza Constitucion is under the charge of Mr. Corrales who is so well and favourably known in this city.

The Liverpool steamer Cordova arrived in port yesterday with a valuable and assorted cargo, and a number of passengers, to all of whom we extend a hearty welcome.

To-night the Foreign Amateur Racing Society holds its meeting at the Hotel Congreso, alongside of Mr. Allinson's Livery Stable, we hope there will be a good attendance.

The consignee of the Argentine barque Carolina has requested us to thank Captain Phillips, senior officer of H. B. M. naval forces stationed at Montevideo, for his noble exertions to save said barque during the late fearful gale: we willingly comply with our subscriber's request, and hope that our colleagues at home will call the attention of the Admiralty to Captain Phillip's praiseworthy exertions.

The Montevidean Government has at last awakened to the danger which besets it: a body of men has been despatched to the camp to put down the 'montoneras,' and orders given to shoot all taken with arms in their hands; we approve of this: something must be done to put a stop to these eternal never-ending revolutions. Flores Government is the Government de facto, it should therefore be respected, our friends in the Banda Oriental are getting very nervous about the Paraguayans as in the country districts the most exaggerated rumours are circulated by the Blanco party.

The Provincial Bank of Buenos Ayres has received per Mersey 27 boxes of bank note paper. As the presses are all now in good working order, and a talented English engineer Mr. Lea in charge of them, we suppose that shortly the new class of bank notes will be in circulation.

A vessel from Hamburg arrived in port on Monday with an enormous consignment of gunpowder. The supply of this dangerous article at present in the River Plate is sufficient for the allied army for the next 12 months.

The members of the Circulo Literario seem to take but little interest in the future of this society: twice a general meeting has been called and no attendance. The difficulty we believe is that the rent is very high and the receipts owing to the war very limited. The best thing to do with the concern is to shut it up until happier times.

There is a small estancia (Government lands) for sale in Rojas, a league and a half of ground, 900 cows, 2000 fine mestiza sheep, a good brick house and also corrales, all to be disposed of in $180,000, which seems so monstrously cheap that we regard the business as a palpable sign of the times; supposing that the enfiteusis right is valueless, the stock alone that is on the camp ought to be worth the money.

The little steamer Lili we perceive has been put on the Colonia route. This will prove a great convenience for our estanciero friends in that part of the Banda Oriental.

Our subscribers who live along the line of the Southern Railway will please at once acquaint us with the Station at which they require their papers, as it is possible owing to the change in the route some of our country readers may possibly miss their paper.

We forgot to mention an incident which occurred recently at Flores' camp and which nearly terminated fatally for Flores. It appears that the Genl. ordered one of the soldiers to take the oxen from a luggagevan, which the soldier refused to do, not having received any order from his commander; the Genl. seized the bullocks by the horns and began untying them, the soldier drew a pistol, cocked it, and was about to blow out Gen. Flores' brains, when luckily one of his aides struck the arm that held the pointed weapon and overpowered the soldier, who has been placed under arrest and is to be tried. It appears that Flores declines all uniform, and goes about in his old Buckingham which he bought at Mr. Temperley's store previous to his leaving from the Gas-house.

Col. Paiva's estancia near Restauracion has been completely desolated by the Paraguayan troops. The houses burnt, cattle swept away, and the whole place completely sacked. The people in the neighbourhood are in a state of frightful alarm, and look wistfully to the east, to see if Flores and his army are approaching.

The great export duty question seems to have been definitely settled by the congress men at the Vice President's residence. The duties will remain in force until the end of next year.

It is generally believed that on last Monday the Paraguayans entered Goya, as on the 11th a chasque from Caseres arrived notifying Lagraña that Barrios was approaching, and had along with him a troop of 200 bullock carts which he provided for the occasion, but it is not thought that he will get much in Goya as the merchants had embarked everything.

We are happy to say that the Government responding to our appeal on behalf of the unfortunate fugitives in the Gran Chaco has ordered the little steamer Victoria to their rescue, and sent up clothes and provisions for the use of these unfortunate people.

Governor Lagraña has addressed a note to Dr. Elizalde our Foreign Affairs Minister, requesting him to wait on the Foreign Ministers and demand the protection of foreign war vessels in the River Plate. On behalf of the unfortunate people in Corrientes, we have not heard what action Dr. Elizalde has taken in the matter, but regret sincerely to say that we regard all foreign intervention in the present war as hopeless. England and France have announced a strict neutrality, all the other nations will follow suit.

Genl. Urquiza is at present the sheet anchor of the Blancos in Entre Rios. The press in Montevideo have raised such a cry against them, that it is believed that the Captain-General will be unable to save them. If the Paraguayans enter the Banda Oriental it is generally supposed that all the Blancos will join them, and as they are all well armed they will swell the invading army considerably.

Sr. Arteaga the proprietor of the steamer Uruguay, has offered to convey all parcels and letters to the army at Concordia free of charge. This is certainly very liberal on the part of this much abused steamboat owner.

LATEST FROM COLONIA.

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS GOING ON.

TOWN GOING AHEAD.

It is so seldom we hear from Colonia, that few of our readers know about about the place; the district is studded with Englishmen, yet they never write to us: we hope our friends over there will now take courage and drop us once a week the latest per Lili. We are happy to learn that all the sheep-farmers about there are doing well and the town is also improving, on every side: new houses are going up, and a splendid mole is about to be constructed; the total population of the town we hear is only 600 souls. The Public school house for boys and girls is also about to be repaired. The church is to be newly plastered and whitewashed, and a fine marble baptismal font erected, by a wealthy merchant of the town: the Rev. Mr. Henry Morry is the pastor and is deservedly esteemed. The towspeople complain bitterly of the neglect of the Government as regards postal arrangements, the mails are sent by the diligences and when the arroyos are high the coaches cannot cross. The storm was fearful in Colonia, and the Flor de la Colonia was blown in on the beach, but was luckily got off without damage. The camps are in a splendid condition, and the sheep and cattle very fat, there are about 5,000 fat novillos for the saladeros, the wools promise to be very superior, as the sheep have not suffered from scab. There is not another spot in the Banda Oriental going a-head so fast as Colonia.

RELIGIOUS DISTURBANCE IN CHILE.

THE CHAMBERS STORMED BY WOMEN.

In the 'Mercurio' of July 1st, we find full particulars of the riots at Santiago produced by the project before Congress to abolish the state-religion in Chile, and place deserters on the same footing as Roman Catholics, after the manner of the U. States. Mr. Vicuña McKenna was one of the ablest supporters of the measure, and Padre Ugarte condemned it in eloquent sermons, styling himself "deputy to the Congress of Christ."

The excitement reached its pitch on the night of June 30th when 200 women assembled at the entrance to the Chambers. At 9 o'clock they raised such a clamor as to prevent Deputy Recabarren from continuing his speech. At 12 o'clock the riot increased, and the soldiers were called out to disperse the women. At 2 a. m. while the Chamber was still sitting the female rioters succeeded in forcing their way into the court-yard, with such loud cries that the horses of the soldiers took fright and rushed out into the street. Hereupon the Deputies believing the Congress-hall in flames ran out in all directions, and fled for safety.

It being manifest that the abolition of Art. 5 of the Constitution, declaring the Roman Catholic to be the Religion of the State, would cause a revolution, and also that fuller liberties should be granted to Protestant residents in the matter of churches and schools, the Government very wisely saved the difficulty, by putting a veto to the project and substituting the following amendment:—

"It is hereby declared that while Art. 5 makes the Roman Catholic religion to be that of the State, this nowise interferes with the right of Protestants to provide themselves with churches and schools as they may find expedient."

BUENOS AYRES AT THE PARIS EXHIBITION.

Deputy Zuviria has introduced into Congress a bill voting the sum of 20,000 silver dollars for the purpose of collecting and forwarding to the Paris Exhibition the various articles of produce or manufacture in the Argentine Republic. The bill has been sent to committee, and we have every hope will pass favorably through both the Legislative Chambers. We only regret that similar steps were not taken last year, when we urged the expediency of Buenos Ayres appearing at the Dublin Exhibition.

The following is a list of articles mentioned by Dr. Zuviria which might compete with those of other nations at the World's Fair; but we must give Mr. Perkins (of Rosario) credit for furnishing even a fuller catalogue:

Wool, vicuña, jerked beef, horse-hair, cow-hides, horse-hides, guanaco-skins, dear-skins, seal-skins, tiger-skins, nutria-skins, ostrich-feathers.

Cereals of every kind; honey, molasses, wax, tobacco, rice, indigo, cochineal, silk, cotton, dried fruits, aniseed, timber of every kind, dyes, gums, bark, herbs, grain, sugar, preserves, wines, liquors, salt-petre, potash, soda.

Minerals of gold, silver, copper, tin, nickel, lead, iron, coal, petroleum, porcelain, marble, rock-crystal, quartz.

Textures of wool and vicuña, blankets, carpets, embroidery, tanned hides, fancy leather, &c. &c.

This show of Argentine products is highly respectable, and we feel an involuntary regret at comparing what this country might be and what it actually is, so lavishly endowed by Nature, and so neglected. At the same time the riches of the Argentine Republic are unhappily unknown to Europeans, and we feel convinced it is only necessary to shew to the world what resources are here unexplored, for immigration to pour plentifully its tide of industry and intelligence upon these hospitable shores. The amount proposed ought to be quite sufficient as the persons who furnish samples will be fully recompensed by the honor done them and the subsequent profits of the sale at the close of the Exhibition.

LATEST FROM PARANA.

16th August, 1865.

News we have none since the arrival of the steamer on Tuesday.

I presume you are aware that in Bella Vista the Paraguayans have not respected any houses that had goods in them; amongst the many that have been sacked is that of an Irishman, John Gannon.

In Corrientes they have taken everything from the Frenchman, Alfred Giro, and sent him as a prisoner to Paraguay. No nations are respected by them, or flags of any description.

LATEST FROM RIO JANEYRO.

Commodore Barroso received the cross of the Imperial order of the Cross, and a pension of 1,200$.

Chief of squadron Augusto Leverger, of Matto Grosso, is made Baron de Melgaço; Colonel Dias da Silva officer of the order of the Rose; and Lieut. Mello and Pereira de Souza Knights of this order.

Sr. Dr. Francisco de Asis Vieira Bueno is appointed President of the Bank of Brazil.

The bar of the San Francisco is officially reported to have widened and to have 10½ to 11½ feet of water at high-tide.

While the troops were embarking on the 10th a spectator observed a member of the Police Corps with a boy of 8 years of ago weeping bitterly. Ascertaining that the father was grieving at leaving his son without a protector the spectator offered to be one and to write to the camp at times, which offer the soldier gratefully accepted, and departed greatly consoled.

A mulatto: born in Minas Geraes, died lately in the province of Bahia, aged 107. Though given greatly to drunkenness he was, up to the time of his fatal sickness, healthy and active; and his death is said to have occurred from drinking nine bottles of wine and rum at a sitting.

On the 11th the Praça do Commercio was entered by thieves with the aid of false keys and some papers were carried off. An attempt was made to break open the safe of the Seguridade insurance company, in which was 20,000$, but without success.

Next night thieves entered a shop in Rua da Imperatriz and stole some 30 pairs of shoes.

The thieving denizens of Rio seem to have received lately either an accession of experienced members or an increase of enterprise as thefts from house and person are become frequent and daring.

Decree 3,500 of the Ministry of Agriculture concedes to Luiz da Rocha Dias two years for the exploration of copper and other minerals in the Comarca of Cachoeira in the province of Bahia.

As far as 100 mineral data, for 90 years, are allowed on the employment of 5,000$ on each data claimed.

The usual clauses of 5 years free importation of machines, tools, &c., and free export of minerals; disappropriation of the land for mines and roads, &c., are in the decre.

Decree 3,501 of the same Ministry concedes to Joao Francisco dos Santos ten years privilege for the use of the vegetable fibre known as carrapicho, useful for the manufacture of cloth and cordage.

Decree 3,502, of the same, authorizes the Merim Steam Navigation Company established in the city of Jaguarao in the province of San Pedro do Sul, to go into operation.

A Polish fazendeiro at Paty do Alferes offers 10,000$ to the soldier who will catch Lopes. As one polo makes a rod we hope the Polish measure will be well carried out by the captivating soldier who earns the reward, provided, of course, that he don't catch a Tartar instead of a Paraguayan.

The Subdelegates of police have orders to establish patrols at night through the city for the purpose of introducing the light fingered gentry who are out late at night to the small arms exercise on the plains of Corrientes and Paraguay. May the harvest be good for the crop is well matured!

NATIONAL BONDS.

10,800 National Bonds, cash, 30¾.

Patacons opened very firm, and as one or two leading brokers commenced buying, rose to 27 55, but gold in the afternoon was very abundant, and a few heavy cash sales caused a decline in the rate. The general feeling, however, is that specie has touched its lowest for some time, and until positive news of a victory over the invaders is received no beneficial change in the value of the currency can be anticipated.

In Exchange there was very little done; some small bills were passed at full rates, but the £10,000 said to have been passed yesterday at 49¾ caused much enquiry amongst the brokers, who as it was done by principals, gained no commission. We since have been assured that it was done at 49¾. It is supposed that Exchange will be very active for this packet.

National Bonds are weak, although it was said on 'Change that one party was short and would have to buy largely. Still these securities have been found so extremely dangerous to speculate in that very few touch them. Any large amount thrown on the market would cause a very serious fall. Government Bills are abundantly offered and discounted at 1½ to 1¾. The Provincial Bank will not, as we are informed by a director, draw by this packet; its coffers are overflowing, and although the rate of interest has been reduced, it can discount but little. The French packet, it is thought, will bring no gold, but very probably some important news touching the Riestra loan. One of the chief causes for the present extreme ease in the money market is the dull state of business. Trade of every description is stagnant, and, as a necessary consequence, money cannot be easily and safely employed.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artizans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m till Three p.m on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare

The bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1863.

P.p. Mauá and Co.
WILLIAM LESLIE

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes, can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

LONDON SOCIETY:

THE MIRROR OF ENGLISH LIFE.

The six volumes of this extraordinary work show at a glance to what it owes its singular success in England. Written by the most brilliant littérateurs of London, and with nearly 500 exquisite illustrations by the first artists of the day, they present the most curious and interesting collection over drawn together of tales, sketches, and humorous descriptions, representing not only the strange and varied phases of London life, but of Modern English Society, whether considered in its in-door or out-door aspect—in its festal or domestic character. From the court of St. James's to the waifs and strays of our civilization, all ranks and classes are depicted, at work or at play—in mirth or in sadness.

No other series of volumes in our language presents so much in the form of light and amusing literature for the hours of relaxation—none which so brings out the grace and glory of English life by matchless delineations of its youth and beauty. It is unique in English literature, and the possessor of a set of London Society holds a sovereign charm against hours of ennui.
